

2018 TRIPLE CROWN SPORTS BASEBALL A DOUBLE-EDGED TOOL FOR BASEBALL PROGRAMS

The 2018 Triple Crown Sports baseball schedule will function as a double-edged tool for baseball programs around the country – offering a strong menu of memorable destination events for youth teams, while adding the Pathway Baseball division, which will offer college exposure opportunities for those looking to shine in the 15u-18u space.

On the doorstep of its 35th year running events, Triple Crown Sports will have another coast-to-coast reach in the baseball world, with appearances by noted YouTube comedian Domingo Ayala spicing up the flavor of multiple events.

Arizona Spring Championships – Two sessions in March make metro Phoenix the ideal setting to start your season. Western teams work out the kinks, get a game-speed look at the roster, and enjoy premier lodging, golf, restaurants and more.

Omaha SlumpBuster – The nation's largest youth event covers four sessions in June, where teams from 40-plus states (500 of them!) descend to play another fresh mix of competition. Even better, teams get 20 general admission tickets to a College World Series game in gorgeous TD Ameritrade Stadium. Two sprawling Festival Nights featuring baseball comedian Domingo Ayala and the explosion of two 10-foot bats are just part of the story. Look for an invite-only 15u-18u division in Session 4.

U.S. Club Nationals – With a history of relationship-building legwork and the ability to run top-notch tournaments, TCS will bring the nation's best organizations together for a true Club Championship, 9's through 14's. We play in and around the time-tested East Cobb facility in suburban Atlanta; ESPN3 will be on hand for the 13u and 14u title games.

United States Baseball Championships – Triple Crown's longest standing older-age baseball event has an Upperclass (17u/18u) and Underclass (16u) division that sets the bar for college exposure. College coaches will be on hand watching every pool play game; camps, clinics and speakers make this a valuable stop on the schedule.

Big South Championship – A comparative newcomer, this third-year event is based in Franklin, TN, a great place to watch baseball and have fun while also being an easy drive to Nashville. We're seeing more and more teams make their July 4th plans around this tournament, and momentum at the 15u level has us offering an invite-only division.

Triple Crown World Series – We've got the destinations you crave for a true family vacation that also houses some intense championship-tempo action on the field. Go to our website for age group breakdowns; you can find World Series moments play out this year in Park City, UT; Ventura Country Coast, CA; and Steamboat Springs, CO. Each event features festivals, pin trading and an environment where we can all remember how much fun the game brings to our kids.

Two other moments deserve a quick mention. Pathway Baseball, the 15u-18u arm of Triple Crown Sports, is setting down roots and will feature tournaments in Omaha, Atlanta and Colorado. Also, one of the most impressive regional events on the schedule is the Texas Season Opener, set for the first weekend in March in the Dallas Metroplex. With an average turnout of 475 teams from multiple states, this is THE kickoff event for hundreds of programs as they shake off the winter rust and get serious about the season to come.
